INTRODUCING SLINGSHOT 2001

What do they say? If it aint broken, don't fix it. We at National Goal Post Co. abide by that rule. We aint broken, but we did fix it. When a product like ours, which has been on the U.S. playing fields since 1967, has had very few problems, the statement we hear is leave success alone.

As the original patent owners of the slingshot, we keep striving to make our product better. In this year of 1996, we have reached another milestone. We have made Slingshot better to the point where we can guarantee it for ten years and if torn down during or after a game we will replace it at no charge. Now comes the best part.

The costs of the posts will run in the same price range as this past year. We are not putting a premium on them because we improved it. You buy a product you expect it to last and you don't want to pay a premium for the improvement. You will only gain by this change.

Another bonus of these posts is the fact that the crossbars and uprights can be covered in a newly styled plastic sleeve in NFL yellow only. You can purchase a set of posts, and add the plastic sleeves later. We have tested one set of sleeves and found them to be just perfect. With the sleeves the need for upkeep of the crossbars and upright is removed.

All that is needed is a damp cloth and a light cleanser to clean them off. There will be no further painting of those parts. In addition to the above, we will supply a jar of Vaseline with every set sold, so you can apply it to the plastic covering. This will keep fans off your posts because there is no way to grip Vaseline treated plastic. The plastic tubes for the new posts will be available in 1997.

When you receive your posts you will see that the stubs holding the uprights and the stub going into the main standard have been altered. You will note that there are no further welds holding them in place. This fabrication of the posts is new and now has patents pending. There is a reason for this and # is added strength at those points. The crossbar stubs will fit existing Slingshot Goal Posts, so in the event you want to purchase the crossbars and uprights only, you can, because of the fit.

We at National are overly pleased with our new presentation and so will you. You may contact us at the above numbers for further information.

For those of you who have purchased National posts previously, we thank you. For those, anticipating the purchase of new posts, we hope that we can be that supplier.
